Sorry for the form letter but we're all really busy this time of the year and didn't have time to individually write everyone. Hope you've had a great year!

Lifestyle/Achievement Notes:

Rachel "graduated" from her "Corduroy Bears" preschool class and is now a full fledged "Snuggly Bear". She also is learning to recognize and write letters. Next year we hope to have her write the Christmas letter. Samantha has moved on from babbling to chattering (sometimes incessantly). But there's no truth to the rumor that Samantha's first words were "Taco Bell".

Vacations/Trips (Check all that apply):

- Russian Space Shuttle Disney World Backpacking Across Europe Cruise
 Myrtle Beach Camp David w/ President Summer Trip to Visit Relatives in: Ohio & Indiana

Vacation Notes:

In June, We met Mom and Dad F and Arch, Donna, Ty and Spencer for a week at Myrtle Beach. It was the first trip to the beach for our kids and they enjoyed it immensely. In July, we visited Donna and Arch's new house (Bowling Green, OH) and then off to Indiana to visit Mom and Dad W, Karen, Steve, Kelsey and Nick's houses.

This Year, We Had to Survive (Check All that Apply):

- Hurricane(s) Tsunami(s) Earthquake(s) Sniper(s) Last Year! Apocalyptic Asteroid Strike
 Telemarketer(s) Spammer(s) Floods West-Nile Virus SARs
 Birthday Party w/ Preschoolers Democrats Republicans Each Other! Tornado(s)

Disaster Notes:

Well, we had our annual sump-pump failure and basement flooding due to Hurricane Isabel. I guess when a hurricane is on its way, it is a good idea to check and see what those flashing lights mean on the backup sump pump before the electricity goes out at Lam! Rachel had her preschool class at our house for her 4th birthday party. Not sure which of the two events was more stressful?
